OLMJ Table

OLMJ emphasizes light as a construction element.
Imagine a light beam carries the light bulbs

The craftsman

The craftsman is not afraid to experiment with glass as an artistic tool; the craftsman is also eager to explore the relationships between art and life, dreams and reality, imagination and reality.

About Glass Design

Glass carries its magic as a material in the unique form of its existence. It dances gracefully in the states of matter. And it turns into a work of art in the hands of glass masters who manage to unravel its secret. Glass is the perfect material for artistic expression. However, in order to be able to make artistic works with glass and gain experience in this field, one must have a certain aesthetic sensitivity, work devotedly and devote himself to this subject. A productive workshop environment in which the necessary skills can be developed for glass object production is at least as important as these elements. We work in our workshop with full awareness of these.

Tube Series

SIRENA YACHT

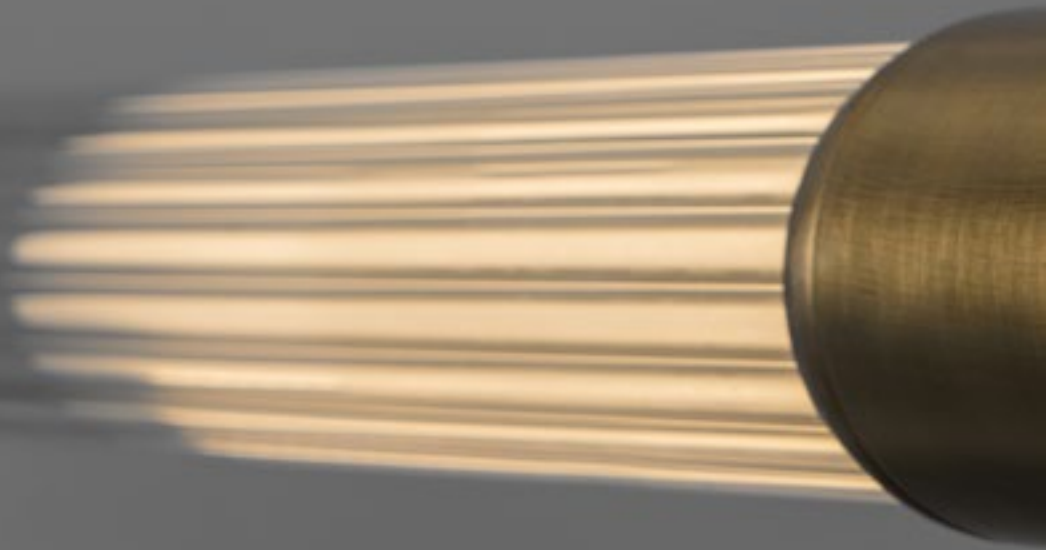

Sirena 88 Standart Wall Lights

The light source is encapsulated inside a tube so that it can display the escaping bare light to its viewers. Nothing obstructs it because it levitates inside freely. That is what the Tube family is all about, either standing alone or hanging on the wall; the light reflects through the minimal glass casing.

Tube Task

designed by Faik Kale

Saken manufactures the Tube collection in five sizes and five models / Hand made blown glass parts produced by one of production practice with four color options ( transparent , blue, gray,brown) / two different body finishes with LED light source

Leaf Pendant

Nature reflects itself on Leaf, just like Leaf reflects the light naturally. The homogenous light is entirely free to illuminate through the surrounding glass omnidirectionally, and the floral textures and rhythmic geometries cast their shapes. In the end, experimental refraction appears to create an ambiance in the environment.

Planet Series

Space distinguishes between the brightest and the darkest. This cooperation in the vast void inspires the Planet family. So, Planet holds this futuristic appeal that can fit any style. Its conic base balances the circular head, which magnifies its simple yet unconventional geometry, and 360-degree homogenous lighting ring illuminates the room and cast the designed shadow of the Planet's minimalism.

A vertical strip of a beach scene. The foreground shows golden sand with some small dark spots. In the middle ground, there's a line of white surf where waves are breaking. The background is a clear blue sky with scattered white clouds. A dark, silhouetted landmass is visible on the horizon to the left.
